Well Pleased.

So many people have stopped in at the News office to tell of the fine time had at the dance held in the Williams Opera House last Saturday night that we must mention it here. The attendance we are told, was the largest there has been at any dance in Williams for years, and the dancers were so unanimous in their appreciation that the orchestra was overburdened with demands for encores. We have not heard of one dissatisfied or disgruntled person among those who attended the dance, and the Young Men's Entertainment Association, which gave the dance, is being urged to give another soon. The News is pleased to hear this. Such a dance serves the purpose of supplying the public with first class recreation and social intercourse, and at the same time is a good advertisement for the town. We take pleasure in congratulating the boys upon the success they have achieved, and hope they will hold all future entertainments which they give right up to the same standard which they have set by this dance.

Streets Worth While

The News has been pleased to note during the late wet weather that those streets which have been filled after the plan at present being carried out in the street work drained well and were in fairly good condition even during the time of snow and rain and were in excellent condition for dirt roads, immediately after the weather had cleared. We are informed that this street work has been in progress for only a few years. That being the case, the showing made is a good one. A few more years of this sort of street improvement will put all of the main streets of Williams in excellent condition for a town of its size. Good streets will mean much for the good name and prosperity of the town.

About Muzzling the Press

The greatest handicap to progress, the worst foe to justice today, is the muzzled press. Under this muzzling truth has in many communities become a jewel so rare as consistency is said to be. Wall street manufactures the largest and strongest press muzzles but practically every town, Williams included, has one or more persons engaged in this line of manufacture. Coins are wrought into strips of advertising which are riveted together with conditional pledges to form the muzzle and a reward of prosperity is offered the press that will submit to wearing the silencer. Faking, rascality, graft, theft, go on unknown to the public, unpunished and unchecked due to the protection offered by the muzzle on the press. Once completely unmuzzled, the press of the nation would put an end to all of these evils in less time than it would take to tell about it. The would-be-muzzlers of Williams are finding the News a very obstreperous watch dog. It refuses to be muzzled and insists in keeping a sharp lookout for its master—the public. The local muzzle manufacturers have already withdrawn their advertising—prior to this week—and are looking on in disappointed silence while the News instead of becoming submissive to them goes on unimpeded, and if anything, becomes even more independent.

But here we will drop the figurative language and speak a few heart to heart words with our subscribers.

The News is here to conduct a legitimate business and to work with all its might for the best interest of Williams. You know that a muzzled press cannot work effectively for the best prosperity and well being of a community. A small number of advertisers, one advertiser in particular, have already tried to muzzle the news. You cannot afford to have that done, and it will not be done under the present management. However the News can be handicapped by the opposition of these persons. You cannot afford to have the News handicapped in its work. It will not be handicapped if you insist that it shall not be. All you need to do is to show those merchants who continue to patronize the News, that you appreciate their patronage of your paper. Watch our columns for their advertisements. Turn your trade to them, let them know your stand, and the News will not be hampered. Do this and you will gain in many ways. In addition to guaranteeing yourselves an upright, honest, fair and fearless home paper, you will get your money's worth at any one of the store's now advertising in the news. Not a merchant now advertising with us handles anything but first class goods, and every one of them offers you courteous and honest treatment. Stand by the News and keep it the most powerful influence for the best good of the town that there is in Williams.

Up to the People

Just as well call a spade a spade. The Common Council of Williams at the special meeting held last Friday night passed an ordinance to segregate the red light district. No action was taken toward licensing the traffickers, altho it is expected that such action will be taken later. This ordinance will not take effect for thirty days. Red light districts are prohibited by the state statutes, with the qualification that municipalities may segregate and license them within their own corporate limits if they so choose.

It is useless for the citizens of Williams imitating the ostrich, to hide their faces in the sand and thus attempt to escape the consequences of this action which they thru their representatives have taken in regard to this evil. It is now up to every father and every mother, every young man and every young woman who has a sister or brother, and every citizen who has a care for the best good of the town, the country and for fellow man, to face this question squarely and decide whether the action taken by the council is the action which they should endorse. Weigh the facts.

FOREST SERVICE TO
"LOG" ROADS

An order has just been issued by the District Forester at Albuquerque instructing Forest officers who use motor vehicles for travel to carefully log all roads of travel. It is hoped that by the end of the coming field season most of the motor roads within National Forests and particularly those frequented by tourists will be logged. Notes will be made in regard to distances of travel; condition of the road; surface, such as mud or sand; and other information of use to travelers. While this information is being primarily collected for official purpose, yet it is planned to supply it to the public.

Railroads caused nearly half the forest fires in Colorado and Wyoming last year, and almost one-sixth were set by lightning. In California lightning started more than half, with railroads a comparatively insignificant cause.
